Report

Report on Individual contribution to the web development project.

Subject: IS1109

Project title: Online Technical support management system

Group no. : 06

Index number : 19020236

Contribution

I contributed to the group project by creating the facility page of the technical support system. This page describes the services that are offered by the "DreamHomes" technical support system. This page contains details about service providers and the facilities offered by this technical support sysytem. This page has been created using HTML and CSS. Embedded style sheet was used to apply styles to this page.

And also I contributed towards preparing the final project report.

Moreover, this assignment provided me a good opportunity to get a good knowledge about how to use PHP scripting language for server side scripting and the usage of MySQL.